

You are invited to attend

---

Design Speaks:

---

Artichoke Night School

---

Session 13
Defining the sustainable workplace

---

The sustainable workplace of the future will be defined by how and where people work. How are designers and their clients responding to shifts in the workplace? In this highly respected speaker program presented by Artichoke magazine, we explore the inner workings of the sustainable workplace.

KATE LANGAN is group general manager of property at ANZ. Kate is responsible for the delivery of a new suite of work environments at ANZ, building on the success of its global headquarters in Melbourne. She also introduced Our Space, an initiative to enhance collaboration and knowledge sharing.

GERALDINE MAHER is a principal of Jackson Architecture and director of Jackson Interiors. Geraldine's design addresses the emotional, civic and functional aspects of interiors, as seen in her work on Visy Headquarters and Analogue Adaptable Workplace and Residence.

SUE WITTENOOM leads AECOM's Strategy Plus practice group and provides briefing, planning and change management services for new working environments. Sue has over twenty five years' experience as an architect, project manager and property adviser.

WHEN

Wednesday 19 February
6–8 pm

WHERE

Space Furniture
629 Church Street
Richmond, Melbourne

COST $25 (includes light refreshments)

Secure your seats early as tickets are limited

---

Book now

---

Image: ANZ Tower,
Sydney by Hassell.
Photography: Earl Carter.

---

ARTICHOKE
Organiser

SPACE
Supporter

A DIA endorsed CPD
event for DIA members