Design Speaks:

Artichoke Night School

Session 16

Let's agree to disagree:
secrets from design duos

Perhaps the most ubiquitous of creative collaborations is the design duo. But what's the secret behind a truly successful creative partnership? In this highly respected speaker program presented by Artichoke magazine, we go behind the scenes to find out how two award-winning duos make it work.

RACHEL LUCHETTI and STUART KRELLE established interior design and architecture studio Luchetti Krelle in 2008. The practice has a diverse portfolio, but its primary focus is the hospitality sector, with past work including the Adriano Zumbo Patisserie in Sydney. Stuart and Rachel work in collaboration and open discussion with each other, promoting a flow of ideas that become the finished projects they are fiercely proud of.

PATRICIA BONDIN and ANTONIA PESENTI established Make Creative in 2009, a design studio that works across architecture, interiors and graphic design. Working collaboratively with its clients, Make Creative has designed workplaces (including the award-winning Goodman Unit B4 in Sydney), retail stores, public art commissions and graphics projects.
