Architecture can be a catalyst for transformation at all scales. The Architecture Symposium: Beyond the Building presents a curated selection of contemporary Australian architects whose public projects have an impact that is beyond the built form itself. In these buildings, form and use, aesthetics and technology, concept and program, ethics and immediacy, private need and public good often meet head-on. Discussion will highlight works that have synthesized these often-conflicting factors, extending the brief to unlock remarkable results that have a ripple effect on the building's context and its community.

MAKING VERSUS TAKING

Architects have a collective ethical responsibility for the public good and our critical thinking skills are needed now more than ever to address the challenges of the built environment. Our role is to contribute to the collective bettering of the world through the wide-ranging entry point of architecture – from the careful design of shelter and the use of new technologies to minimize materials, to building with waste and considering the unbuilt.
