The Architecture Symposium: A Broader Landscape

Friday, 18 November 2022

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Participants who attend The Architecture Symposium: A Broader Landscape will be able to:

- Reflect on the way Australian architecture responds to landscape and understand how diverse ideas about landscape shape Australian architecture.

AACA Competency: Project Initiation and Conceptual Design; PC17, PC29, PC30.

- Explore notions of Country and consider how Indigenous practices of caring for Country can inform architectural design.

AACA Competency: Project Initiation and Conceptual Design; PC18, PC25. Detailed Design and Construction Documentation; PC36.

- Consider ways in which architects can respond to the climate emergency through multidisciplinary engagement with landscape.

AACA Competency: Project Initiation and Conceptual Design; PC31, PC35.

FORMAL ASSESSMENT

- Describe two distinct conceptualizations of “landscape” presented in the symposium (e.g. “landscape as un/natural” or “landscape as resource”) and reflect on their significance for architectural practice.

- Reflecting on the projects and ideas discussed at the symposium, describe the importance of Indigenous practices of caring for Country to contemporary architectural practice.

- Recall a specific speaker who challenged you to think differently about the relationship between architecture and landscape.

- How has the climate crisis changed the way architects are (or should be) considering landscape as part of their process?

- Were issues raised that you feel require further discussion or exploration?

- Describe how the material presented in this session will directly influence your design practice.

NOTE: Attendance certificates will be issued via email from 22 November 2022.
